

SoulLights™ ✨ Reflections of Your Divine Self

Quotes By The Guides, through Ron Scolastico, Ph.D.

1	"Challenge is temporary. The goodness is eternal perfection and love. It is always present."	2	"You are an eternal being, temporarily living an important human life."	3	"The light of God shines into the world through the prism of your heart."
4	"The ultimate healing is not the elimination of every negative thought and feeling. It is the alignment with the deep truth that there is only goodness in life, even when you are feeling bad."	5	"Eternity begins in this moment. If you can bring love into this moment, then you are quite prepared to bring love into eternity."	6	"You are surrounded by beloved souls who know the yearnings of your heart, and who love you unconditionally."
7	"Know that in any moment of your life, no matter what you may feel, you are free to say to yourself, 'There is only good.' And when you can believe it and feel it in all moments, then you are free."	8	"The love that joins you personally to your soul is powerful, uplifting, and wonderful. Imagining this love will help you begin to create feelings of being personally connected to the majesty of your soul."	9	"Your spiritual path begins in your humanness, with the simple day to day willingness to be honest, kind and loving, to the best of your ability."
10	The magnificence of your soul pours into you in every moment of your life. As you open more and more to your soul's wonderful embrace, you will feel the most fulfilling love, and you will know that you do not walk alone on your present pathway. You will know that your soul is your constant companion.	11	"Creativity in its purest form is undifferentiated energy that is all things. As it passes through the soul, creativity becomes notes of a symphony taken from an instrument, the instrument the force of God, played upon by the soul coming forth as sound. From a simple point of view, you could say that the creativity of human personality choice is how you hear that sound and what you will do when you respond to it."	12	"Since the pure love of God has no form, you will never perceive it directly while in human form, but you can feel its love, its presence. You can feel the wind even though you do not see it. At times, you can imagine the wind with a form. You might imagine some light. You might imagine a beautiful ray, or aura. You might imagine a heavenly chorus, participating in the wind of love. The key, of course, is to know that this love is personal for you."
13	An Affirmation, from The Guides, through Ron Scolastico, Ph.D. I rejoice that I have the extraordinary opportunity to live the miracle of human existence on the physical earth. I am grateful for the variety of experiences that are available to me in my human life. And I celebrate the loving forces of my soul, and of God that make my life possible.	14	An Affirmation, from The Guides, through Ron Scolastico, Ph.D. "No matter how I feel, no matter what I think, I hold the power of life in my hand. Each day, I must decide how to use that power. And, what I decide becomes my contribution to life on earth."	15	"You have eternity to rejoice in being a soul. You have only a handful of years to rejoice in being this present human self that is you, living in this present physical body. Therefore, it is wise to rejoice in the beauty and magnificence of the human experience."
16	"The hunger for love has been placed in you by your soul to urge you to seek completion with other human beings, and to make certain that you do not trap yourself in the physical reality. Thus, it is not only hunger for human love, it is also a hunger for the divine."	17.	"No matter what you human ones do in terms of communicating with the divine, you must understand, and try to believe, that the divine is always communicating with you through forces of perfect love, perfect harmony, and perfect goodness.."	18.	"A relationship is not simply a block of stone that sits there. It is more like a beehive, there are so many different individual complexities. But if they are harmonized, they make the most delicious honey."
19	"When you are truly aligning with the divine, there are wonderful, positive, inspiring, satisfying, joyful, fulfilling inner experiences for you because the nature of the divine is perfection, goodness, beauty, harmony and love."	20	"Divine law is the force that infuses into human consciousness the awareness that you are joined to all of life, the awareness that every living human is part of you."	20-A	"I am an eternal soul. Nothing can damage my being."
